* The Qualification Date is when the statutory holding period has been met. If a sale occurs on or after that date, it is called a Qualifying Disposition and may result in favorable tax treatment. To qualify, a sale must occur more than one year after the date of purchase and more than two years after the grant date (which is typically the start date of an offering period). If the requirements are not met, the sale is known as a Disqualifying Disposition, and usually results in a higher tax burden with more reportable ordinary income and short term capital gains.
